Welcome to Girl Scouts

Are you ready for the ride of a lifetime? That's what you'll get as a Girl Scout leader! In this role, you'll guide your own troop

(a group of Girl Scouts from your local area) and help members build confidence, leadership skills, and friendships. In the process, you'll create lifelong memories for your troop and yourself.

We're here to support you every step of the way. Let's get started, and remember-your Girl Scout adventure starts today, but the best is yet to come.

Meet Our Council

Our council is Girl Scouts of Greater Atlanta. We're your local connection to the larger Girl Scout organization. We support local troops, organize events, and provide resources and training for leaders like you, ensuring you have everything you need to help youth members have an unforgettable Girl Scout experience.

Our location:

5601 North Allen Road, Mableton GA30126

Key contacts:

Member Care: 770-702-9100

Other pertinent information:

Our council has been blazing trails and redefining what's possible for girls everywhere since 1921.

At that time, while most women had recently earned the right to vote, most women still followed strict social norms and restrictions educationally and financially. The Girl Scout organization changed this.

Girls were encouraged to embrace their unique strengths and create opportunities based on their interest, not someone else's. And with that, girls began participating in areas previously limited to them...including sports, science, and outdoor adventures. The values instilled in girls more than 100 years ago are still true today-helping every girl unlock her full potential, find lifelong friends, and make the world a better place.

Girl Scouts of Greater Atlanta serves more than 33,000 girl and adult members in 34 counties in the greater metropolitan Atlanta area.

Notes

The Girl Scout Program

As Girl Scouts, youth members discover the fun, friendship, and power of working together. They grow courageous and strong through a wide variety of enriching experiences, such as field trips, skill-building sports clinics, community service projects, cultural exchanges, and environmental stewardship.

Badges are a key part of the Girl Scout program. Girl Scouts earn badges by learning new skills and doing activities that demonstrate their accomplishments and understanding.

In earning badges, Girl Scouts...

- Build skills. As they earn badges, Girl Scouts develop new skills and explore their interests.
- Show their accomplishments. When worn, badges show the world what a Girl Scout can do.
- Make a difference. Badge work helps Girl Scouts discover ways to make a difference in their community.

Girl Scouts Explore in a Fun and Safe Environment

Girl Scouts typically complete activities as part of a troop. A troop is a group of Girl Scouts and volunteers who meet regularly to have fun, learn new skills, and improve their community. Troop involvement allows Girl Scout members to grow their confidence, explore new interests, and find their voice. Troops can either be single-level or multi-level.

- A single-level troop is made up of Girl Scouts from a single program level, such as Daisies. This structure allows activities and experiences to be tailored to the group's age and developmental stage.
- A multi-level troop includes Girl Scouts from more than one program level—such as Daisies, Brownies, and Juniors—together in the same troop. This setup lets older Girl Scouts mentor younger ones, supports diverse learning, and balances shared activities with age-specific needs.

Both troop types offer unique benefits! The choice depends on leader preferences, community needs, and available resources.

The Girl Scout Leadership Experience

Girl Scouts look at the world and take action to change it for the better. They make friends, challenge themselves with new experiences, write their own stories, and develop the skills and confidence to say, "I know I can do this!" As a troop leader, you support this process-and the Girl Scout Leadership Experience (GSLE) is the tool that helps you to do it.

Putting the GSLE into Practice

It's time to put the Girl Scout Leadership Experience (our secret sauce) to work! Implementing it is simple. Just remember these three steps, and you're good to go:

1. Plan a variety of activities, both in and out of the meeting space. Explore Girl Scout badges in STEM, life skills, the outdoors, and entrepreneurship. Get out and experience the world through field trips, council-run events, community service, cookie sales, and more. Check out the Volunteer Toolkit (girlscouts.org/forvolunteers) for all sorts of ideas.

Tip: Encourage them to explore a variety of activities in the Outdoors, STEM, Life Skills, Entrepreneurship, and even field trips, allowing them to discover new interests and passions.

2. Create a supportive environment. Support your Girl Scouts' physical, mental, and emotional well-being, and make sure other adult helpers provide positive support as well. Inspire and guide your Girl Scouts to value, respect, and encourage each other, too! As the troop leader, you'll want to make sure ALL Girl Scouts feel they are welcome, included, and all-around supported within the troop. Take the lead in creating safer spaces where Girl Scouts can thrive! Check out the Safety Activity Checkpoints resource (see page 8) for more on this topic.

Tip: The main ways you can support girls in your troop are to make them feel welcomed and included, acknowledging their ideas and feelings, keeping them safe, and encouraging respect and teamwork among them.

An Experience for the Whole Family

Participation in Girl Scouts isn't just for youth members. Everyone in the family can have fun and benefit-Girl Scouts, their adults, and troop leaders, too! There are lots of ways for families to get involved, both big and small.

As a troop leader, you can engage families by:

- Communicating with them about what their Girl Scouts are doing
- Including them in Girl Scout celebrations
- Encouraging their participation in Girl Scout activities
- Enlisting their help with specific group support roles (outlined below)

When families feel engaged, they're more likely to help out. And their involvement results in the best possible experience for troop members. Family support also helps your troop members stay connected over time.

Multi-level tip: Facilitating a multi-level troop is a great way to include the whole family in the Girl Scout experience, since siblings of different program levels can attend the same troop meetings

Building Your Troop Leadership and Support System

Although managing the Girl Scout experience for your troop is rewarding, it can be time-consuming. Luckily, there are many ways that parents/caregivers and other family members can engage to support your efforts. No matter how much or little time someone has, there's always a way for them to volunteer.

Troop leadership and support roles

- Troop Co-leader: A co-leader provides general backup and support. They help plan and run meetings and activities, bringing the Girl Scout experience to life for your troop.
- Troop Treasurer: Works with troop leaders and girls to keep an accounting of troop income and spending, prepare annual finance reports, and may be one of two required signatures on the troop bank account.
- Troop Volunteer First Aider: Any chaperone accompanying the troop who has CPR/first-aid certification approved by Girl Scouts of Greater Atlanta.
- Troop Camper: Support troop leaders to empower girls to lead by encouraging activities and experiences outdoors. Help girls plan camp outings while following council's safety guidelines.
- Troop Meeting Helper: Support troop by occasionally helping leaders at meetings, supporting activities, encouraging participation and supporting positive behavior. (Troop helpers may drive or supervise girls.)
- Troop Treats & Keeps and Cookies Manager: Lead the sweetest season of the year-ignite goal-setting, rally families, and keep orders, deliveries, rewards, and funds running smoothly so your troop shines and girls grow as entrepreneurs. Partner with your treasurer and co-leaders to manage finances (collect money, issue receipts, make deposits), use the council's troop ordering systems to track orders and inventory, and stay connected to your Service Unit Product Program Manager to stay in the know. Timeframe of Commitment One Treats & Keeps or Cookie Season; renewable upon Troop or Service Unit review.

Multi-level tip: Parents/caregivers with multiple Girl Scouts in a troop may especially enjoy volunteering. Getting involved lets them embrace the Girl Scout experience together as a family.

Family/Caregiver Meeting Checklist

Communication with families is key and it all starts at your Family/Caregiver Meeting. Here's a meeting checklist you can follow to make sure to cover the most important points with your families/caregivers.

1. Welcome and introductions

- Leader introductions
- Family/caregiver introductions
- Troop meeting logistics

2. Discover the Girl Scout difference

- Mission; Promise and Law
- What Girl Scouts do
- How Girl Scouts do it (GSLE)
- Troop Year Plan

3. Family as part of the formula

- Why family engagement?
- Communication methods

4. Getting families involved

- Troop leadership opportunities
- Other ways to help

5. Money matters and more

- Uniforms, supplies, and other costs
- How troops pay for things
- Paperwork

6. Wrap it up

- Close with intention
- Q&A

For more family/caregiver meeting content, check out the Family Engagement training on gsLearn (girlscouts.org/gslern).

Note: If Girl Scouts will be attending this meeting, consider starting out by having the families/caregivers and Girl Scouts introduce themselves and discuss their hopes for their Girl Scout experience. Then provide a short craft activity for Girl Scouts to do while the parents/caregivers attend their part of the meeting.

Multi-level tip: Encourage older Girl Scouts to lead a simple activity for younger Girl Scouts while the family/caregiver meeting takes place.

Resources to Simplify Your Experience

Girl Scouts provides a selection of useful tools-both in print and online-to support you in preparing for your volunteer role and getting started with troop meetings.

Volunteer Resources

myGS (mygs.girlscouts.org)

The Girl Scout member account management system, myGS, is your go-to portal for managing your troop's Girl Scout experience. Here you'll find membership information and additional troop management tools, including gsEvents, the Volunteer Toolkit, and gsLearn. Families also have access to myGS to manage memberships in their household.

Volunteer Toolkit (girlscouts.org/vtk)

The Volunteer Toolkit (VTK) is a digital planning tool that helps troop leaders run a Girl Scout troop or experience. The VTK provides Girl Scout programming at your fingertips, offering fully scripted meeting plans, badge requirements, and Troop Year Plans to help you deliver an engaging and exciting Girl Scout year. This tool is available on any device and can be found at girlscouts.org/vtk or you can also access it on your myGS navigation bar under My Account.

gsLearn (girlscouts.org/gslern)

gsLearn is packed with indispensable volunteer trainings and courses, including new leader onboarding material, program training, and advice for guiding Girl Scouts at every grade level. You can access both national and council-specific courses through gsLearn, which is found on your myGS navigation bar.

Girl Scout Shop (girlscoutshop.com)

Girl Scout uniforms are a great way for Girl Scouts to show their pride and display their achievements! Find uniforms, badges, leader resources, apparel, outdoor gear, gifts, and more-all in one place. Plus, every purchase at GirlScouts.org supports Girl Scouts everywhere and helps power our mission. Shop online or visit a local council store today!

Events Calendar (www.girlscoutsatl.org/en/activities/event-calendar.html)

Events Calendar is where you will search to find upcoming events and trainings. You can access the Events Calendar on girlscoutsatl.org and click on the calendar icon.

Volunteer Essentials

This detailed guide to volunteer policies and procedures is designed to support busy troop volunteers. Inside you'll find everything you need to dive into your newest adventure-being an awesome Girl Scout leader.

Safety Activity Checkpoints

Safety Activity Checkpoints (SAC) is a comprehensive collection of safety guidelines for GSUSA- and council-approved activities. The resource lays out standards that ensure the physical and emotional safety of youth. It also guides leaders in considering equity, diversity, and inclusivity when planning activities, making sure that all Girl Scouts who want to participate are included. Whether you're looking for field trip guidelines or tips for creating an inclusive meeting space, you'll find key information here.

Multi-level tip: Be sure to check out Leading a Multi-Level Troop and other training courses designed for multi-level troops.

Get Ready!

Follow this checklist to kick off a great Girl Scout year.

To get started...

- Register as a volunteer with the council, if you haven't already.
- Complete a background check. (Connect with a council representative for specific policies.)
- Invite potential members to join the troop. (Talk to a council representative for recruitment support, if needed.)
- Visit myGS to understand where badges and other program resources are hosted in the Volunteer Toolkit and available training courses in gsLearn (girlscouts.org/gslearn).
- If you haven't already, reach out to your network to find a potential co-leader for your new troop.
- Meet with your co-leader(s), once established, to plan an initial family/caregiver meeting.

In your first month...

- Hold your family/caregiver meeting.
- Check out GSUSA's Troop Year Plans as you start planning for your first troop meeting.
- Confirm your troop roster by logging into myGS (girlscouts.org/forvolunteers).
- Connect with your service unit for peer-to-peer advice, local event info and coordination, and general support.
- Determine where you'll hold your meetings and host your first troop meeting. (If you're having trouble finding a location, reach out to a council representative for help.)
- Open your troop bank account. (Connect with a council representative for specific policies.)
- Access gsLearn (girlscouts.org/gslearn) and make sure you take the following courses:
 - What Girl Scouts Do
 - The Girl Scout Leadership Experience (GSLE)
 - Your First Troop Meeting
 - Family Engagement

In your first three months...

- Complete first aid/CPR/AED training. (Connect with a council representative to sign up for a course.)
- Follow up with the council if you have any additional questions.
- Host your first one or two troop meetings.

Family/Caregiver Meeting: Holding a family/caregiver meeting is a key part of starting your troop year. It helps set expectations for families and shows them how they can support the troop. You can use the Family/Caregiver Meeting Checklist on page 7 to plan your troop's meeting.

Multi-level tip: Troop Year Plans are available for both single-level and multi-level troops. The multi-level Troop Year Plans are designed with badges that are easy to facilitate simultaneously across levels.

Service Units: Your service unit is an organized network of Girl Scout youth, family members, and volunteers (including all current troop leaders) in your area. It is a source of peer-to-peer advice and support. Service units typically hold regular troop leader meetings to share details on upcoming events, product/cookie sales, and other timely topics.
